Hi John

Really enjoy the Training days and find that even though I have been cooking for over 10 years I am still learning new things due to the level of experience and quality of the trainers and being able to do the theory in my own time.

My employer really appreciates the flexibility of the training days also so that she can staff the venue accordingly rather than sending me to Tafe every week.

I believe the flexible work place training provided by the Academy is a much better option to gain my qualification then the Tafe option.
